NEW GLADIOLUS

Offered for the first time. - Originated and Introduced by

N. A. MILLER

These beautiful new cut flower varieties have all received a high rating by Mr. Chas. E. F. Gersdorff. One of America's foremost Authorities and Judges of the Gladiolus.

CRIMSON BEAUTY. Rich deep crimson red, shading to darker throat. A weather proof Gladiolus, will not burn in hottest sunshine or get flecked, as some varieties do, in cold rainy weather.
A Good Commercial Variety.

Large Bulbs 50c each - Medium 25c - Small 15c

FLORENCE LAKE, Similar to Mrs. Dr. Norton, but heavily ruffled, and a much more beautiful Gladiolus. The predominating color is pure white, with edges, faintly tinged rose and soft canary yellow throat blotch. Truly a very beautiful Gladiolus, and sure to become a favorite Florist's Cut flower variety.

Large Bulbs $1.00 each - Medium 50c - Small 25c - Bulblets 10 for 50c

NELLIE LEWIS. Large striking flowers on tall massive spikes, magnificent blooms of a beautiful harmonious combination of color, pure soft pink, shaded and varigated a rich tyrian rose, with bright carmine blotch. A fine exhibition and cut flower variety.

Large Bulbs $1.00 each - Medium 50c - Small 25c - Bulblets 10 for 50c

OREGON SUNRISE. Large primulinus grandiflora. An attractive shade of orange, beautifully penciled, a darker shade and illuminated a bright salmon glow. A beautiful cut flower and showy landscape variety.

Note:-- I have accumulated a large stock of this variety
"Hence The Low Price."

Large Bulbs 25c each - Medium 15c - Small 10c - Bulblets 10 for 25c

ROSE BUTTERFLY. Primulinus grandiflora. Very large showy flowers on tall graceful spikes, color a beautiful clear shade of rose, varigated a deeper shade of bright rose, with a large showy yellow throat blotch. Wide flaring flowers, that remind you of huge butterflies in flight.
Extra Fine - Blooms in about 60 days. Rates 94.

Large Bulbs $1.00 each - Medium 50c - Small 25c - Bulblets 10 for 50c

MILLERS GIANT FLOWERING DELPHINIUMS.

These new early giant flowering Delphiniums are the result of cross-pollination of a large type of Delphinium Belladonna and the giant flowering Wrexham, or Hollyhock strain. They bloom early like the Belladonna, but have the same general character of growth that has distinguished the famous Wrexham type, except that the individual flowers are more loosely placed on the stalks. This adds greatly to the beauty of the huge spikes, giving them a more airy and graceful appearance.

These new Delphiniums come in a wide range of beautiful blue shades, with sapphire mauve and rich purple, some have very attractive centers of white, gold brown and black, which resemble large bees.

These stately and beautiful plants are rapidly becoming one of the most fashionable of garden flowers, primarily because they lend the necessary blue for harmonious color effects to the garden picture. They have many places in the garden, set singly or in groups in the flower border, or among shrubbery and gorgeous effects can be had by planting in large masses by themselves.

Delphiniums can be successfully planted either in the fall or early spring, (plant 18 in. each way). They thrive well in any good garden soil; however, they are heavy feeders and will respond greatly with larger flowers and more massive spikes, if a double handful of bone-meal is applied and worked into the soil around each plant in the fall and spring. A top dressing of lime is also beneficial.

These new Delphiniums, if supplied with plenty of moisture, and the stalks cut back after blooming, then given a supplementary feeding of some quick acting fertilizer like blood meal, tankage, or sheep manure, will often bloom three times during the summer.

A stock of these plants can be easily raised from seeds sown in shallow boxes, with a compost made of two-thirds good garden soil, and one-third leaf mold or peat moss to which may be added a little sand.

Sow thinly, cover the seed not over one-eighth inch deep and water thoroughly with fine spray and never allow to dry out. Place in cold frame or sunny window. Shade from bright sun until the seedlings appear above the soil. When seedlings have made three to five leaves they can be transplanted to their permanent places in the garden.

These small seedlings will need some protection the first winter, after the ground begins to freeze, cover with two or three inches of leaves or straw or some other light cover (old gunny sacks will sometimes do) to prevent heaving from alternate thawing and freezing. Remove the cover after freezing weather, or in early spring before growth begins.
